Introduction

What is a Safe Space for Women and Girls (SSWG)?
A safe space for women and girls is a place where women and girls can go to at any time to feel safer and empowered and have access to information, education, recreational activities, support and services. These spaces support women and girls to recover from violence, form networks and access support, safety and opportunities. These are often integrated spaces offering a range of services including resources, information, social networks, to essential and discrete clinical care and sexual reproductive health services. SSWG are safe spaces for women and girls in the community, culturally-appropriate and tailored to the context.

SSWG can be used for various activities such as: GBV case management, individual or group counseling, psychosocial support, safety planning and risk reduction, skills-building, NFI distribution, recreational activities. Information on critical issues can be shared in these spaces such as where/how to access humanitarian services and information on sexual and reproductive health, legal rights, childcare, and GBV prevention and response. SSWG are safe spaces that promote women’s protection and empowerment and help mitigate risk of GBV.

Why do women and girls need special support in emergencies?
Evidence suggests that the establishment of women- and/or girl-only spaces helps to reduce risks and prevent further harm during acute emergency responses. These spaces provide women and girls with a safe entry point for life-saving services and a place to access information. Safe gathering points also offer them an opportunity to engage with each other, build important connections, solidarity and support with other women and girls, exchange information, and rebuild community networks and support. Safe spaces can be a key way of building women and girls’ social assets.

1. MAKING DECISIONS: PRACTICAL GUIDANCE ON SETTING UP A SSWG AND THEIR SERVICES

In preparing to set up and run a SSWG based best practice, the following four steps must be considered.

TO COMPLETE THIS SECTION → SEE ANNEXES 1, 2 and 3 at the end of this document for the detailed decision making guides and considerations for STEPS 1 – 4:

Firstly, go through:

- STEP 1. The basics: is a SSWG the right approach for our organization? (Annex 1)

If you answer “YES” to STEP 1 and a SSWG is the right approach for your organization, go through the following STEPs 2 – 4 to help you design and set up your SSWG:

- STEP 2. SSWG staffing numbers and sample organogram (Annex 1) + Sample JDs (Annex 3)
- STEP 3. SSWG services and activities (Annex 1)
- STEP 4. SSWG construction layout location considerations (Annex 2)

Once you have completed all four steps. Move onto the next parts of this document:

1.2. Quick Guidelines around setting-up a SSWG from Interagency Working Group on GBV¹:

Naming the SSWG. Ask women and girls what they want to call their SSWG. Women and girls should be involved in the naming process. From the Guidelines: “Do not call [the SSWG or case management area] a ‘GBV centre’ or anything that suggests anyone going there has experienced GBV – that would make it unsafe for both survivors and staff. Offering a variety of services that are not related to GBV allows survivors to access services more safely and discreetly.”

Women only space. “If your organization operates centers for women and girls where GBV survivors can receive services, it is important to keep the centre a women only space. This to protect the psychological and physical safety of all the women and girls who come to the centre.”

For more detailed considerations and guidance on SSWG construction, location, layout and identification, see ANNEX 2.

1.3. Quick Guidelines around Community Engagement from the Interagency Working Group on GBV:

Community Don’ts. Never go out into communities to actively identify survivors. This places women at risk – “usually when perpetrators ...discover a survivor has sought help from someone (even if it is not clear that the person sought help related to the abuse, the perpetrator will feel that his power has been threatened and there is thus potential for an escalation of violence)”²

Survivors in the community. “In the case of GBV, case management committees or community based protection groups are not recommended because of the difficulty in protecting the identity and confidentiality of the survivor, the likelihood of re-traumatization if the community members are not well-skilled in responding to disclosures, and the safety risks associated with poor confidentiality practices.” This also places survivors at risk of being blamed or physically harmed for an act of violence placed on them and therefore, care not being survivor-centered. Instead, engage the community in understanding the SSWG is for all women. It is important that the whole community understands and supports the presence of the SSWG. Practice survivor-centered care and empower survivors to access services when she is ready by explaining activities in the SSWG to all women and girls.

---

2. Practical Guidance on Maintaining SSWG and Services Provided

2.1. Activities

- Have you created a weekly schedule of activities? Is the schedule of activities on the wall and accessible/readable for women and girls accessing the SSWG?
- Have you asked women and girls if the safe space sessions and activities should be held in the morning or afternoon? What days are best for the SSWG to be open?
- Have you considered who will clean the safe space (it will need to be a female to maintain the integrity of the SSWG)?
- Have you received feedback from women and girls on activities? How should the activities adapt based on feedback?
- Have you ordered the supplies needed for the SSWG? What is the schedule for ordering supplies?

2.2. Capacity Building/Training/On-going Learning

- Check in with SSWG staff on what types of half day capacity building they need/want to improve their skillset and assist them in enhancing the SSWG.
- Discuss with staff on a monthly basis on what specialized services they may need training in order to improve service provision in the SSWG. Use the guide process on “Services and activities provided in the SSWG” to help determine if your organization may be ready to expand service provision.
- Ensure that all staff receiving regular, weekly, on-the-job mentoring and on-going practical learning opportunities provided by a SSWG and VAWG technical specialist.

2.3. Weekly Staff Meetings

- Staff working in the SSWG need weekly supervision to discuss progress and constraints in activities as well as collectively, how they are and feel the SSWG is progressing. Weekly meetings can be a good time to listen to staff about needs in the SSWG and for the team.
- Staff meetings can be two hours – one hour for a de-brief, and one hour for a learning session to improve staff skillset.

3 Ibid, p.38
2.4. Staff-Care

- Make sure staff are not overworked or overexposed to secondary trauma.
- Create a supportive climate – regularly check-in with your teams on their well-being and ensure staff are taking time off completely away from work.
- Undertake learning sessions on staff care, well-being, safety, and stress management.
- Ensure that staff care and well-being initiatives are an integral part of your programming and work plans.
- Accommodate staff and any personal or work crisis they may have going on in their lives – be flexible with the response of different individuals (e.g. allow flexible schedules if possible, give time off where needed, provide additional supervision, etc.)

3. NON-NEGOTIABLES OF PRACTICE: The Fundamentals of Setting-Up SSWG

<tr>
<td>DO Consult women and girls on locations they feel safe accessing and use that information to directly inform where you put your SSWG</td>
<td>DON’T Locate the safe space in an area occupied by military or in close proximity to religious buildings or other areas where men largely frequent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Hire ALL female staff to operate the SSWG and ensure that you have more than 3 staff (women only) operation a SSWG</td>
<td>DON’T Ever hire male staff for the women and girl only space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Ensure all staff and volunteers and trained on GBV guiding principles, code of conduct, women/survivor-centered support</td>
<td>DON’T Ever allow men in the SSWG (not even if you are a male Manager/supervisor – no men are allowed)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Technically supervise and support staff in their roles</td>
<td>DON’T Allow men to loiter or gather right outside the SSWG – this will jeopardize the safety and accessibility of the SSWG for women and girls – seek appropriate assistance if you need it to send them on their way</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Ensure that all SSWG staff adhere to survivor-centered support in their practice</td>
<td>DON’T Use “GBV”/“SGBV” or use any other sensitive title in the name and sign post for your women and girls safe space – this exposes women and girls to stigma and jeopardizes their safety and security</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Engage with and consult women and girls at each stage of the program, including on activities and times/schedules of activities</td>
<td>DON’T just hire only one female staff for the SSWG - this is irresponsible, and potentially puts that staff at risk – you need a minimum of 2-3 female</td>

<td>DON’T Ask her personal details</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO Always protect her privacy and confidentiality – only share information with her informed consent</td>
<td>DON’T Mediate or intervene in her situation even if she asks you to – this disempowers the survivors and re-victimizes her and there is a high risk of perpetrator retaliation and causing harm to the survivor</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ensure the safety of the survivor at all times</td>
<td>At all times, the confidentiality of the survivor(s) and their families will be respected. This promotes safety, trust and empowerment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Safety’ refers to both physical safety and security, as well as to a sense of psychological and emotional safety for people who are highly distressed. It is important to consider the safety and security needs of each survivor, her family members and those providing care and support.” (IASC guidelines, 2017, p.20)</td>
<td>– “Breaching confidentiality can put the survivor and others at risk of further harm. If helpers do not respect confidentiality, other survivors will be discouraged from coming forward for help” (IASC guidelines, 2017, p.20)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exception! The only time confidentiality should be breached is when there is imminent risk to the survivor or the GBV worker or if perpetrator is a humanitarian worker (staff or volunteer)</td>
<td></td>

<tr>
<th>Dignity and Self-Determination, Respect</th>
<th>Non-discrimination</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The actions &amp; responses of all actors will be guided by respect for the wishes, the rights, and the dignity of the survivor.</td>
<td>All women and girls have equal and fair access to services and support</td>

6. PRACTICAL TOOLKIT

6.1. Process guides for practice

For use by all staff on the project, female and male. They can also be used by Managers/Supervisors to go through with staff to ensure best practices are being followed:

- What to do if a women survivor discloses violence
- What to do if a girl survivor discloses violence
- What to do if you are concerned about a women or girl

Please note: These three process guides, based on principles of psychological first aid and survivor-centered support, are for team and will be used as part of the learning sessions (as outlined above) and will be provided to the organizations and teams attending those learning sessions. These will be in English. Translations will be strongly advised to that teams are able to make the most of them. The process guides can also be shared with organizations alongside an accompanying brief session on how to use them.

6.2. Job aides staff

For use by all staff on the project, female and male - 1-pager sheets for them to use in their daily work. They can also be used by Managers/Supervisors to go through with staff to ensure best practices are being followed:

- Non-negotiables of practice: the fundamentals for setting up a women and girls safe space
- Non-negotiables of practice: survivor-centered support for women and girls
See ANNEX 5 for these job aides for teams; These 1-pagers can be printed out and provided to teams that they can use to refer to in their daily work to remind them of the guiding principles, non-negotiables and best practice.

6.3. Quality assurance

Ensure there is enough space for survivors – without breaking confidentiality or revealing survivor information, with SSWG staff review how many survivors are attending SSWG activities

Weekly strategizing with the SSWG team on improving access for women and girl to your space in-line with GBV guiding principles

The SSWG staff are (before starting up, then bi-weekly/monthly) consulting with women and girls on getting their input and feedback on the SSWG, activities and services to ensure they are relevant and important to them

Men are not in the SSWG

Men are not congregating or loitering outside the SSWG

IMPORTANT: Male Managers must ensure that they are not breaking the best practice of entering the women and girls space. No men are allowed. If you have male managers, you should delegate the role of quality assurance checking of the SSWG to a senior female staff member to take on this role so that she is able to access the SSWG.

ANNEX 1. DECISION-MAKING GUIDES ON SETTING UP A SSWG

See attached:
- SSWG decision_making guides_Oct 2017 [PDF]

ANNEX 2. CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SSWG

Location and Proximity to the Community and Other Services

- Consult with women and girls in the target area about where they would like their space – hold a focus group discussions (FGD) with groups of women and groups of girls to find out from them which is their preferred area, or what type of area would they feel safest in to access and participate
- Don’t place the safe space facility near or next to spaces where men congregate (phone charging stations; information points; mosques or other religious buildings; military points; cafes; distribution sites; gas stations or vehicle repairs; etc.)
- Locate the SSWG near a water point so easy access to water source for the SSWG (limiting the time and distance staff and volunteers have to travel to re-stock)
- Locate your near accessible latrines (this could also be an advocacy point with WASH if there are none or they are not functioning)
- Conduct a rapid service mapping to understand what services are in the area > Locate your SSWG near a functioning primary health care facility - try to place your SSWG (less than 1km) away from there in case of referrals for health services.
  - As part of the service mapping and essential service audits, visit the nearest health care facility and find out what services they provide (clinical management of rape, SRH services; child and maternal care, etc.) and if they have female staff present; plus opening and working hours
• Locate your SSWG near good access roads, with clear paths leading to and from the SSWG. Always ensure there is good lighting leading to the site (if no lighting exists – this is strong advocacy point to camp/site management and other relevant sectors) > However, try not to put it actually on a main road or a central path/thoroughfare as there will likely be a lot of people and/or vehicle traffic and movement which would disrupt the ambiance, security and integrity of it being a safe and confidential space for women and girls, with men frequenting back and forth. If you have already located your SSWG on a main road or path, ensure that the public cannot look into the SSWG through open windows, low walls, or wide doors. Ensure the front is concealed and private – consider putting up high walls and a privacy screen on the other side of the entrance so people can see into the space.

• Don’t put your SSWG in a really remote area or space surrounded by bush/jungle where there are no other services or community – this will force women and girls, and the SSWG staff, to travel through potentially dangerous spaces to access the WSS (other hazards might also include snake bites if the pathways are uncleared)

• Don’t include the SSWG within a public building or structure (i.e. a primary health care facility) – as men will also be accessing those wider services, and thus be around the SSWG, this would undermine the integrity of the space being safe, confidential, comfortable and accessible for women and girls; women and girls attending and accessing services will be seen by the community potentially leaving them open to stigmatization and potential perpetrator retaliation

Construction materials and support

• Try wherever possible to use locally sourced materials, which can be supported by additional items such a tarpaulin/plastic sheeting, corrugated roofing, etc.

• Ensure that you always engage with the local community and leadership on both sourcing the local materials, clearing the land and constructing the SSWG using local labor from the community – this is very important in getting community buy and for their engagement

• Ensure your structure is built robustly to withstand harsh weather conditions (storms), and also has good ventilation for high sun. However > when including ventilation, do not jeopardize the confidentiality of the SSWG by leaving huge open gaps in the walls where the public can look in, which would no longer make it a safe, confidential and discrete space

Layout of the Safe Space for Women Girls (SSWG)

Sample models and floorplans of safe spaces for women and girls (See ANNEX 3 for floorplans):

- Large Space (Specs: 15m length x 6m width meters = 90 sq/m)
- Small Space (Specs: 7.5m length x 6m width meters = 45 sq/m)

Note: These two sample models and floorplans are aimed to help organizations to really think about what the SSWG can look like and include. Organizations must be intentional about their SSWG design and to think about the essential components that will be needed in their space. Although these two models are based on extensive learning and experience, in these two in particular, women and girls opinions/feedback was not sought during the design. Important: NGOs/UN should still consult with women and girls to get their input in case there is a design flaw not foreseen and to have women and girls be part of every step of the process for the women and girls safe spaces or centers.

Additional layout considerations:

With the above models in mind, the layout inside your SSWG will depend on the land size that you have available and the extent of the services that you want to provide.

There are some key considerations for design for within the overall SSWG structure:

Rooms (see the sample model floorplans attached for details):

- 1 – 2 x large rooms (women; adolescent girls – depending on your schedule of activities), preferably with the ability to close off the space - you can use material to cover the door way, you don’t need to use hard material doors
- At least 2 x small confidential rooms, with doors, and ensuring that nobody can peer (externally or internally) in or listen in>
  - Highly recommended: – incorporating in-house clinical management of rape (CMR)/family planning/First Aid services so that women or girls needing this, don’t need to travel externally to it. If you opt to include this into your WSS services (either with full time medical assistant/paramedic/midwife in place; or with a mobile/roving person coming in a few times per week) one of these rooms will need to be large enough for a small camp bed as well and place to stock supplies, etc. If you are not sure about including this service yet, considering creating this room anyway, just in case. You can always make use of the additional confidential space
  - IMPORTANT: This SRH/CMR service must be completely DISCRETE and CONFIDENTIAL. If organizations do feel confident (in terms of their technical capacity and having appropriate supplies, storage and space) to provide this and be able to maintain confidentiality, then DO NOT provide this service > use referrals instead.
- 1 x small preparation room where tea/coffee can be prepared, activities organized
- 1 x small staff-only room where the team can have their own space

Parameter fencing and outdoor space:

- If the space allows, you could great a tall fence surrounding your safe space so that women and girls also have some outdoors space within the WSS compound that is just for them as well, that offers them some outside privacy. This would also allow you to have larger windows, letting in more daylight, in the safe space structure as the public won’t be able to look in due to the fence.
- If you are able to have a parameter fence, consider putting a latrine in there for the space users to access so they don’t need to travel outside of the space to use the latrine

Identification of the Safe Spaces for Women and Girls (Naming, Signage)

- Before you go ahead and put a sign for your safe space you must consider these two critical points:
Always ask women and girls what they want to call their safe space. Women and girls should be involved in the naming process. Do this while you are having your initial FGD with women and girls about what they want from their space (where they want it, what they want to do it, and what they want to call it). With them, you should consider what type of name and signage should be used for the space to be identifiable to women and girls, and not jeopardize the safety and security of those associated with it.

If you are going for a generic name for the SSWG, such as “women and girls center” “women’s friendly space” this could be used until women and girls decide what they want.

- IMPORTANT – What NOT to do: From the IASC GBV guidelines around setting-up a safe space for women and girls: “Do NOT call [the SSWG or case management area] a ‘GBV center’ (or ‘SGBV’) or anything that suggests anyone going there has experienced GBV – that would make it unsafe for both survivors and staff. Offering a variety of services that are not related to GBV allows survivors to access services more safely and discreetly”

STEP 1. IS A SAFE SPACE FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS (SSWG) THE RIGHT MODEL FOR YOUR ORGANISATION?

BEST PRACTICE AND DO NO HARM
Running a SSWG is a huge responsibility and commitment. It is a specialism (like health, WASH or education, etc.) that requires technical expertise, experience and oversight. Only run a SSWG if you are able to meet best practice and core standards with accountability to women and girls and a commitment to being women-, girl- and survivor-centered. Running a SSWG without this will do harm to women and girls and potentially put lives at risk.

- What will be the sex of your safe space team?
  - Women and men
  - All men

Do you want to set up and run a safe space and accompanying services for women and girls only?

YES

- Common reasons given for having male staff or volunteers in women and girls safe spaces:
  - “It’s very difficult to find female staff”
  - “We need to include men as well / we can’t end GBV without them”
  - “We already have hired men”

NO

- You also want to include men and/or boys into the services - they are survivors too and you don’t want to turn anyone away at the space

Then a women and girls safe space is not the right model for your organization

Consider the following models that might better fit your needs:

- Community Center
- Children’s space

Important! Ensure you have specialized and qualified staff to provide children services

See Steps 2 - 4 if you are unable to hire a WOMEN ONLY team for the safe space, then a women and girls safe space is NOT the right model for your organization.
STEP 2. WHAT STAFFING NUMBERS DO YOU NEED FOR YOUR SSWG?

How many SSWG staff have you hired to facilitate/run the SSWG?

(Remember they must be female only)

1 x Staff

- DON'T just hire only one female staff for the SSWG - this is irresponsible, and potentially puts that staff at risk – you need a minimum of 2-3 female staff for safety and ability to provide services and activities.

2 x Staff

- THIS IS HIGHLY RISKY AND NOT ADVISED - 2 x staff would only enable you to provide minimum services and activities at the SSWG. For all group activities it is advised that you always have two 2 x staff facilitating – for example: if a one of the participants required individual support, then you would have still 1 x staff to remain with the group.

3 x Staff

- THIS WOULD BE A RECOMMENDED MINIMUM – 3 x SSWG staff would allow you to have more diverse team roles and schedule so that you can ensure that there is a minimum of 2 x staff in the SSWG during opening hours and services and activities can run in parallel (See sample SSWG organogram and JDs)

4+ Staff

- THIS IS HIGHLY RECOMMENDED – 4+ x SSWG staff would allow for various services and activities to run in your SSWG with diverse team roles and positions and schedule of activities and services for women and girls (See sample SSWG organogram and JDs)

BEST PRACTICE AND DO NO HARM

SSWG must be operated by FEMALE STAFF ONLY. NO male staff should be allowed to work in a SSWG and the accompanying services in the SSWG. All SSWG services and activities must be conducted by FEMALE STAFF ONLY. Allowing men into the same will jeopardize the psychological and physical safety of all the women and girls who come to the center/space. Allowing men into the SSWG will significantly compromise the confidentiality, comfort and discretion of the SSWG for women and girls.

SSWG staff must NOT be left on their own in the SSWG: A total of 2 staff for the SSWG is not recommended, just in case one staff needs to leave the SSWG to support a survivor, attend an urgent incident or move outside the space.
SAMPLE ORGANOGRAM FOR A SSWG – See sample Job Descriptions (JDs)

Women and girls safe space team – WOMEN ONLY

SSWG Manager

Senior Response Officer (x 1)

Community Worker (x 1 - 2)

GBV Case Worker (x 2)

Adolescent Girls Officer (x 1)

Midwife/Medical Assistant (x1) (provide SRH/CMR)

SSWG Assistant / Facilitator (x 2)

Community Volunteers
These would be women from the community who will support activities (information, awareness raising, etc.) (OPTIONAL)

This position could manage and oversee 1 to 2 SSWG through providing roving support

This position leads the response team and facilitates activities. It also provides critical, specialized case management supervision support to any Case Workers on the team (see STEP 3 and the IASC GBV Case Management Guidelines); as well as general supervision support to the positions beneath

This position would be the main focal point and activity facilitator for adolescent girls in the SSWG

GBV Case Worker is a specialized position and must only be provided by staff who meet the criteria and core competencies as laid out in the IASC GBV Case Management Guidelines (2017) necessary to provide case management (see STEP 3; IASC guidelines - https://gbvresponders.org/response/gbv-case-management/).

If they do not meet the core competencies for Case Workers, considerable harm can be caused to survivors and women and girls at risk of GBV.

If you do not have staff ready for case work as well as technical supervisory support for GBV case management, you should have different positions, i.e: SSWG Facilitator who is able to provide (with training) psychological first aid (PFA), crisis counselling and conduct group activities. With training and experience, these positions could turn into case workers as well.

IMPORTANT! This is a very specialized and highly sensitive position. The SSWG MUST NOT be known primarily as place for GBV survivors or where GBV survivors go – this will stigmatize survivors and put them at risk. This SRH/CMR service must be completely DISCRETE and CONFIDENTIAL. If organizations do feel confident (in terms of technical capacity and having appropriate supplies, storage and space) to provide this and be able to maintain confidentiality, then DO NOT provide this service > use referrals instead.

STEP 3. WHAT SERVICES AND ACTIVITIES CAN YOU PROVIDE IN THE SSWG?

BEST PRACTICE
You must consult with women and girls in the target community about what they want from their space and activities.

ACTIVITIES TO CONSIDER POST-EMERGENCY PHASE
ONCE CORE LIFE-SAVING SERVICES ARE IN PLACE:

- Life skills
- Vocational training, education and economic skills building
  - (Not to replace formal education for girls)
- EASE (Economic and social empowerment)
- Specialist Adolescent Girls curriculum: i.e.: GirlShine

For more information and guidance see: https://gbvresponders.org/

What other services and activities can you start up?

- Safe, confidential and appropriate referrals
- Information Provision
  - Providing women and girls with accurate information on services, support, GBV, MHM or other health promotion
- Risk Reduction and Safety
  - This includes a variety of activities such as (but not limited to): Dignity kit provision; safety audits, community mapping and FGDs with feedback and action taking; group safety planning and risk reduction sessions
- Recreational Activities
  - Community outreach and engagement
  - Community outreach and engagement is critical. You need the buy-in and support of the local community in order to be able to operate. It is also important that communities (in line with the GBV guiding principles) support women, girls & GBV survivors, and promote SSWG and groups; and that women and girls know the available services and how to safely access them.

It is also important that communities (in line with the GBV guiding principles) support women, girls & GBV survivors, and promote SSWG and groups; and that women and girls know the available services and how to safely access them.
NOTES:

1. A privacy screen behind the entrance allows women to enter freely, while ensuring individuals passing by cannot stare into the WSS which may disturb activities.
2. A privacy screen between the activity room and confidential spaces improve access and confidentiality to the confidential rooms without women and girls having to walk through the activity room.
3. Windows in the WSS allow ventilation. Windows should be minimum 2 metres above ground to prevent people from seeing into the WSS which may make women and girls uncomfortable or break confidentiality if they are accessing counselling.

Non-negotiables of practice:

Survivor-centered support for women and girls

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Create a comfortable, discrete, safe space that accepts women and girls as they are</td>
<td>✗ DON’T deliberately elicit disclosures of violence or force a survivor to tell her story</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Listen to the survivor</td>
<td>✓ DON’T ask or force a survivor to re-tell her experience – this can be re-traumatizing and harmful to her and it is not your role</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Demonstrate caring and empathy</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Ever expose or point out to others that a women or girl is a survivor in public or private</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Reassure her that she is not to blame</td>
<td>✓ DON’T talk to a survivor in public where others can hear</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Show respect to maintain her dignity</td>
<td>✓ DON’T blame her</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ Do Believe her</td>
<td>✓ DON’T judge her</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Show you care</td>
<td>✓ DON’T ask her probing questions – you are not an investigator</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Give her accurate information on what service options are available for her and support her to think through what she wants to do next</td>
<td>✓ DON’T ask her to analyze in detail what happened to her or to put time and events in order</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Support her choices and decisions (even if you don’t agree with them)</td>
<td>✓ DON’T disbelieve her or question her story</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Support her to identify a trusted friend, family or other passenger she knows and trusts to be/sit with her</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Ask the survivor for details about how they feel – this might release a lot of emotion and distress which you/we are not equipped to response to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Support her to identify her own safety options and plans to protect herself</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Tell her what to do; don’t “advise her” – this completely disempowers her</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Ensure you get her informed consent (informed assent for children) for any connections or referrals you make to services</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Ever use verbal or physical force to establish your authority, or get her to do what you want her to do</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Ensure you do not harm with any actions you take or support you provide</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Ask her personal details</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO Always protect her privacy and confidentiality – only share information with her informed consent</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Mediate or intervene in her situation even if she asks you to – this disempowers the survivors and re-victimizes her and there is a high risk of perpetrator retaliation and causing harm to the survivor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>✓ DO find a way to speak to a survivor who discloses to you that will not expose them and put them at risk of further harm from the perpetrator or community members</td>
<td>✓ DON’T Try to confront, address, talk to, or approach the perpetrator – there is a high risk of causing more harm, perpetrator retaliation</td>
